Quality performance for a generation Eighteen year old unit still going strong

In 1999 Recotherm supplied a unit for Fox Farm near Stow on the Wold and Recotherm have maintained the unit for the past eighteen years.

It has performed faultlessly over that time and is still going strong although it recently had a new supply fan fitted, the remaining 85% of the unit is still in excellent condition including its original heat exchangers.

The outer casing is immaculate, partly due to the unique design of the structure which doesn't use the penta-post construction used by most manufacturers and also because as standard Recotherm units come with double skinned insulated panels. This not only prevents heat loss from the unit but also prevents corrosive condensation from forming on the inside of the unit.

This is only available as an option on other units on the market but is seen as essential by Recotherm to ensure the long life of the equipment.

GUARANTEE, MODIFICATIONS, AFTERSALES AND SERVICING

Recotherm units are built to a very high standard and have top quality components fitted as standard. They come with a full on-site warranty supported by the factory. If customers have a problem or would like to modify the way the unit operates they can take advantage of our 'consultant engineer service' and talk direct with the designers who will try to accommodate the requirement or explain the reason why it isn't a good idea.

Double Skinned Insulated Panels

Recotherm believe that the after sales support is a vital part of any sale and we pride ourselves on providing the best after sales service possible, using our own specifically trained engineers.

We offer a full service capability from annual maintenance for domestic customers to more frequent schedules for users such as leisure centres and hotels.

We also offer customers the opportunity to fix their costs for three years in advance to help plan budgets. Ask for details of our 3 year fixed price deal.

It is estimated by the Carbon Trust that bills can increase by up to 60% if plant is not maintained correctly, so taking out a Recotherm maintenance option is well worthwhile
